Harris Bartlett Dies on Eve of 76th Birthday

Well Known Torrance Man Taken by Death Thursday Night

Harris W. Bartlett passed away Thursday at his home, 2919 Gramercy avenue.

Born March 26, 1851, at Collins, N. Y., Mr. Bartlett's death occurred on the eve of his seventy-sixth birthday.

After 47 years' service as engineer on the Erie railroad, Mr. Bartlett retired in 1921 and, with Mrs. Bartlett, came from Jamestown, N. Y., to Torrance, where he had since made his home.

An honorary member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Division 15, Buffalo, N. Y., and a life member of Phoenix Lodge No. 262, F. & A. M., of Gowanda, N. Y., he was also affiliated with Queen City Council No. 259, Royal Arcanum, of Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. Bartlett is survived by his wife, Flora E. Bartlett, to whom he was married 53 years ago; two daughters, Mrs. Lucy Bartlett Barnes and Miss Grace Bartlett, of Lomita and Torrance, respectively; three sons, Albert H. of Torrance and Flory and Morrell Bartlett, of Buffalo, N. Y.; and eleven grandchildren.

Funeral services, in charge of the Torrance Masonic lodge, were conducted at the family residence Saturday afternoon by Rev. B. H. Lingenfelter.

Ted Lewis Hit At the Orpheum

Quite fitting it is that Ted Lewis, his musical clowns and Bobbe Arnst should headline the bill at the Orpheum opening this week. For Ted and his band played the music at the ground-breaking ceremonies for the new theatre a year back, when the steam shovels started by Mayor Cryer and President Marcus Hellman began the cut into the big hole where the theatre now stands, and Bobbe Arnst perched herself aloft on one of Power's elephants and made history in the same fashion. Now Ted returns to see the completed product, and to entertain therein in his own inimitable manner. This high-batted tragedian of jazz, with his lattered top hat, his cerise-tinted cape and his faithful clarinet, will bring the same featured aggregation of players that has been heard on every Columbia record phonograph in the land. They will put on elaborate programs of jazz, and Miss Arnst will step between whistles.

Orpheum tickets for any performance may be purchased at the Dolley drug store at the regular box office prices.

TORRANCE NOTES

Expert Watch Work

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. Church held a special all-day work meeting last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Guy Mowry, 2112 Carson street. A splendid lunch was served at noon (for the small sum of 15 cents) to a large number of enthusiastic ladies. Four quilts were tied and much other work was accomplished during the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry O. Guy were Redondo visitors over the week-end.

Kind Friends We Thank You!

To the hundreds of friends who attended the Re-opening of the Torrance Recreation Parlor, we wish to extend our most hearty thanks.

Your rousing welcome has amply compensated us for all the work we have done to give you a first class recreation parlor, and urges us to renew our efforts to please you.
